

Business & Financial Services

Tax Services

Federal Income Tax Filing Information

Please visit the Internal Revenue Service for helpful individual income tax filing information, including:

- Do I need to file?
 - How do I file?
 - Where do I file?
 - IRS Free File
 - Free tax return preparation by volunteers
 - Earned Income Tax Credit
 - Where's My Refund?
 - Options for paying your taxes
 - Understanding Your IRS Notice or Letter
 - Filing past due returns
 - Renew Expired ITINs
 - Form 1040, U.S. Individual Income Tax Return
 - Identity Protection: Prevention, Detection and Victim Assistance
-

Colorado Income Tax Filing Information

You must file a Colorado income tax return if during the year you were:

- A full-year resident of Colorado, or
 - A part-year resident of Colorado with taxable income during that part of the year you were a resident, or
 - A nonresident of Colorado with Colorado source income;
- AND
- You are required to file a federal income tax return, or
 - You have a Colorado income tax liability for the year.

Please visit the Colorado Department of Revenue for additional information regarding filing Colorado individual income taxes.

Educational Tax Benefits

The following links are provided as resources for Colorado State University students or their parents who may be eligible for education related tax benefits. Click on the links below for helpful information. Please check the tax year carefully, as some links may not yet be updated by the IRS.

- IRS Tax Benefits for Education: Information Center
- IRS Pub 970, Tax Benefits for Education
- IRS Form 8863, Education Credits
- IRS Tax Information for Students

Colorado State University does not provide personal income tax advice or assistance. Parents and students are encouraged to contact their personal income tax advisor or the Internal Revenue Service for guidance, if needed.